

LIVING IN A DIGITAL WORLD

STATnews.com for Healthcare-Related Articles

“Reporting from the frontiers of medicine”

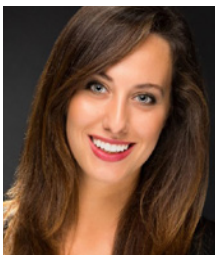

BY KIMBERLY DAVIDOW

www.statnews.com

STAT provides their audience with articles that cover a variety of health topics within the pharmaceutical industry, in biotech, healthcare, and including the latest scientific developments, among other topics. As a former television journalist, I admire that STAT journalists, producers are fair and balanced, delivering compelling articles and visual content within their areas of expertise. In addition, editors, and STAT’s editorial staff have a wonderful capacity to explain challenging concepts within biotech, health, and science. As a Senior Media Relations Specialist for clients within healthcare, STAT’s content provides me with the opportunity to become more informed and knowledgeable surrounding important issues currently impacting biotech, health, sci-ence, and medicine, and within categories such as Politics, Opinions, Special Reports, and In the Lab.

STAT articles are free to access. However, you can upgrade to STAT Plus. This is exclusive coverage that goes deeper and delivers content as it happens. STAT Plus article access on www.statnews.com costs $299/per year or $29 on a month-to-month basis. The first 30 days of STAT Plus are free. After 30 days, your credit card will be charged automatically. STAT Plus cancellations may take place at any time.
